At 100 MW, Oruro is currently the largest PV project in Bolivia. This second phase required an investment of US$54.7 million and the engineering, procurement and construction contract was again...

Solar PV: Solar resource potential has been divided into seven classes, each representing a range of annual PV output per unit of capacity (kWh/kWp/yr). The bar chart shows the proportion of a country's land area in each of these classes and the global distribution of land area across the classes (for comparison).

The Altiplano plateau in western Bolivia has some of the world's highest and most consistent levels of solar radiation, creating high potential for solar photovoltaic power in the region, but structural challenges may prevent scaling.

The total cost of the two phases has been EUR86 million, of which EUR60 million came from a loan granted by France's AFD to the Bolivian State, EUR8.5 million from an investment grant accompanied by a sectoral technical assistance programme financed by the European Union (LAIF), and EUR17.5 million financed by the Central Bank of Bolivia.
