Do solar panels need to be cleaned?

Be sure to clean the panels early in the morning before they get too hot from the sun; cold water and hot panels do not mix! Solar panel maintenance and cleaning is not covered under panel warranties, but if your solar panels are damaged, they will usually be covered. Do solar panels need to be maintained?

Why do people choose solar panels?

Cutting your electricity bills and your carbon footprint are two of the biggest reasons people choose to install solar panels. How you use your solar panels is key to doing both. Our tips - gathered from experienced solar panel owners and experts - will help you maximise the benefits of solar panels.

Are solar panels easy to maintain?

Compared to other renewable energy systems, solar panels are also extremely easy to maintain. Their design, which has no moving parts, means that common failures of other renewable energy systems simply aren't an issue with solar.

Do solar panels need a new inverter?

Use these tips from owners for how to make the most of your solar panels. Cold callers had told 15% of solar panel owners in our survey that their inverter needed changing. Inverters don't tend to last as long as solar panels. So you'd expect to replace it during the 20+ year lifespan of your panels.

Can solar panels be monitored remotely?

It's very unlikely that a company would be able to monitor your solar panels remotely, nor tell without knowledge of your system whether it presents any safety risk. If you're concerned, contact your installer in the first instance or a recommended solar panel firm.

Do solar panels have technical faults?

Technical faults with solar panels are rare. Nearly seven in 10 of those in our survey have not had a fault with their system. Some have owned theirs for more than a decade. Your solar panel installer should have told you how to check that your system is working correctly and any maintenance or cleaning you need to do.
