What happens if a solar company fails to deliver a warranty?

If your solar company fails to fulfill their obligations as outlined in the contract, such as delivering the agreed-upon system or providing the promised warranties, you may have grounds for a breach of contract lawsuit. Did your solar company make false statements or misrepresentations during the sales process?

What causes a solar company to sue?

One of the most frequent reasons for legal action is breach of contract. This can occur when a solar company fails to deliver on their promises or does not complete the installation as agreed upon in the contract. Another common lawsuit case involves faulty products or services provided by a solar company.

How do I file a complaint against a solar company?

Your lawyer will then file a complaint on your behalf in court outlining the details of what happened between you and the solar company. After filing this complaint with the court clerk's office (or electronically), they will serve it on each defendant named in it according to state law requirements.

Can I sue a solar company for misrepresentation?

If so, you may be able to sue them for misrepresentation or fraud. This can include exaggerating the energy savings or making false promises about system performance. In some cases, the installation of a solar system can cause damage to your property.

How do I sue a solar company?

The first step in suing a solar company is filing a complaint with the appropriate court. This involves filling out paperwork that outlines your case against the company and submitting it along with any supporting evidence. Once your complaint has been filed, you will need to serve notice of the lawsuit on the defendant (the solar company).

What happens if you sell solar panels to a company?

Often companies involved in selling solar panels to consumers don't treat their customers properly. Sometimes they damage people's roofs while they're installing the panels. Sometimes they sell the entire residential solar system to a company you've never heard of - and that company starts abusing the consumer.
